

Matthew J. Ingber

Of Counsel

Matthew Ingber is Of Counsel in our Real Estate and Land Use & Zoning Practice Groups, where he advises corporations and individuals on a broad spectrum of real estate matters. His practice focuses on land use and zoning, environmental law, municipal law, corporate practice, institutional lending, and both commercial and residential real estate transactions.

Matthew has extensive experience guiding clients through all phases of the zoning approval process and has worked with Fortune 500 companies as well as local businesses across Long Island and upstate New York. His expertise includes navigating complex regulatory landscapes and securing key approvals for a variety of projects.

Some of Matthew's notable work includes securing zoning changes, special permits, and variance relief for restaurants and petroleum retailers. He has also obtained approvals for fuel cell development projects in multiple municipalities and was instrumental in securing the first variance in the Village of Wappingers Falls to allow digital drive-thru menu boards for a national restaurant chain.
